GO WITH THE FLOW: The Quayside at Sandwich will be part of the survey of who owns what along the River Stour

■ BY NICK AMES

A CRACKDOWN on river crime along the River Stour is being promised by police after a spate of vandalism.

In some cases, boats have been cut adrift and buoys, vital for navigation on the tidal waterway, have had their cables slashed.

Smaller vessels have also been stolen from the riverbank and later found abandoned.

Now officers are to make a complete survey of all boats and boat-owners to see who owns what and who is legally allowed to moor along the river.

A meeting of Sandwich Town Council heard that the recent incidents of vandalism were being taken very seriously.

John Bragg is a member of the town authority and also chairman of the Port and Haven Commission, a historic body which is responsible for the upkeep of the River Stour around Sandwich.

He said: "We are pleased something is being done, but the river is not easy to police.

"Long stretches of it are not readily accessible and there is no road which runs alongside.

"The only way to really patrol it would be by launch. The police only have one of those and it's based along the Medway."

The inventory of the river will see who owns which vessel and which land.

It will also look at insurance and registration of boats as well as examine whether people are living on board boats or along the riverbank.

"At least then the police will be able to contact the right people in the event of an incident,"

RECORD-BREAKERS: The swimmers swam to raise funds for the spinal injury charity Aspire

Swimmers make historic crossing

A PARALYSED man is among seven amateur swimmers celebrating after successfully crossing the 22 gruelling miles between Dover and Calais.

The team, who swam in aid of spinal injury charity Aspire, made history as they became the first-ever group of both disabled and able-bodied people to swim the English Channel.

Taking to the waters at 1am on Wednesday morning, the exhausted crew tackled cold seas in the darkness, finally hitting the beach of Calais 14 hours and 27 minutes later.

Swim leader and chief executive of Aspire Brian Carlin said the team were exhilarated by their accomplishment.

"I am incredibly proud of the whole team and delighted that Aspire was able to complete such an awesome challenge," he said.

James Wood, from Northampton, was particularly proud of his achievement. The 40-year-old was paralysed from the waist down following a motorbike accident in 1990, leaving him unable to control his legs.

He swam in relay with six others and despite completing his two-hour stint, decided to get back in the sea and swim the final mile.

■ BY MARIJKE COX

Brian said the greatest moment was watching James reach the shore in France.

He said: "Each swimmer gave it their all – swimming in the sea is hard enough, but swimming in the dark and in the wakes of ferries and tankers is not for the faint-hearted."

Swimming teacher Rachel Letts, Methodist minister Eleanor Reddington, IT manager Andy Martin, fire officer Kevin Hardwick and Sophie Milton from Swim Trek were also celebrating their achievement.

Eleanor, who has swum the distance of the Channel six times already, was thrilled to have completed the real thing.

"I have swum more than 132 miles so far for Aspire," she said.

"I always try and make it a bit more challenging each time – last year I managed 18 miles in one go which I was very happy with.

"But this year I have done the ultimate challenge, swimming the real English Channel."

Their challenge marks the tenth anniversary of the Aspire Channel Swim, with members of the public encouraged to swim the Channel's distance in their local pool.

Town restaurant is among best in Britain

A POPULAR restaurant in Dover has become the first in the town centre to be named in The Good Food Guide.

The Allotment, owned by chef Dave Flynn, who is originally from Twickenham, was named in the top 1,200 restaurants in the UK for the 2010 edition, based on readers' recommendations and inspection reports.

Dave said he was thrilled to have fulfilled his ambition of making the list in the two years the restaurant has been open and believes it could play a key part in Dover's tourism.

"There is clearly a need for dramatic regeneration to take place for Dover to become a top tourist destination," he said. "What we are achieving at The Allotment can play a significant role in attracting visitors to the town and district, particularly with new transport links such as the high-speed train."

The restaurant, which is on High Street opposite the town hall, uses local produce from allotment owners who provide Dave with their excess fruit and vegetables. He also sources locally reared meat for his menu.

But Dave said the accolade is not just down to the food, but the team at restaurant.

"It's a huge recognition of the dedication and professionalism shown by my staff," he said.

Plane spots missing Channel 'day-trippers'

NINE people had to be rescued from the English Channel on Sunday night after trying to cross from Dover to Boulogne on two rigid inflatable boats.

A major search and rescue operation was launched after a lady called Dover Coastguard to say her husband, who was one of five adults and four children on the trip, had lost sight of the other boat. They had crossed from Dover to Boulogne and were on their return leg when they separated.

The Langdon Coastguard rescue team and the Dover RNLI were called out and a spotter plane was scrambled to help with the search.

The aircraft spotted both RIBs and directed the lifeboat to them.

Fifty years of going to blazes

■ BY NICK AMES

DEAL fire station is celebrating its 50th anniversary this month with an open day next Saturday.

The station was built in 1959 after widespread reorganisation of the entire fire service following the end of the Second World War.

During the conflict, bombing and shelling had stretched fire-fighters to their limits and forced the amalgamation of what had been a mixture of town and rural brigades.

Deal watch officer Dave Potter said: "This town had been on the front line and had been shelled by massive German guns across the Channel.

"When the brigade was reorganised this fire station was built and it is pretty much how it was then.

"We have two appliances and a full time staff here. Our open day will give people the chance to see what we do."

The crews at Deal include Kent's only line rescue team which specialises in cliffside operations, as well as people trapped on high objects or down wells.

The team operates across the whole of the east of the county when major incidents occur.

Before the current station became operational, crews were housed in a series of wartime prefabricated Nissen huts just outside the town.

They also used non-standardised equipment, including ordinary family cars, to get to fires.

Recent incidents attended most famously include the Royal Marines School of Music bombing when an IRA blast killed bandmen at the institute.

All invited to anniversary celebration open day at town's 1959 fire station

NEW DEAL: Fire-fighters line up for inspection during the official opening. INSET: brochure from the day.

"This is still an incident which is talked about locally," said Mr Potter. "We saw the memorial parade this year and almost all the town turned out."

But the history of local fire-fighters goes back along way, with one of their first recorded emergencies taking place in 1881.

Then, the brigade was an all-volunteer organisation using horse-drawn equipment.

They received an alert that a store was on fire in the High Street and when they arrived discovered that gunpowder stored in the basement of an ironmongers store had exploded – blowing the shop to pieces.

Such was the force of the explosion it ignited liquor bottles in the nearby Druids Arms pub – one of which then knocked out landlord Fred Browning as he prepared to pull a pint.

The crews managed to stop the flames spreading to nearby stores and there were remarkably few injuries.

RAMSHACKLE: The postwar fire station in Deal

"We have a long and distinguished history," added Mr Potter.

"It shows how things have moved on when you look at what we have tackled in the past. I don't think somehow that health and safety would look too kindly on gunpowder in a basement."

said Cllr Bragg. "We welcome these measures as the river is important. It is mainly used for leisure, but there are few commercial craft on the waterway.

"We do have some larger yachts – three came in recently and a Dutch sailing barge pulled in for repairs.

"The job of the commission is to keep the river safe, so anything that goes towards that is welcome."

A police spokesman said August was a particularly bad month for problems along the river but added that officers were working with the Dover Partnership Against Crime to tackle the issue.

Radios may be issued to boat-owners so they can contact police if problems do occur.

Taking the salute

THE Sandwich and Deal branch of the Royal Air Forces' Association will be making its annual collection for the Battle of Britain Wings Appeal on Saturday.

A parade will be held on Sunday with a wreath-laying service at Sandwich war memorial.

It will be led by the band of the Air Training Corps and will go from a service at the St Clement's Church to the Guildhall where the mayors of Sandwich and Deal will jointly take the salute.

Our sorry record of crimes against feathered friends

KENT has the worst record in the South East for crimes against birds, according to figures released by the RSPB.

There were 81 incidents of illegal killing of birds or destruction of their nests in the region during 2007 – and 35 of these were in the county.

Three offences against birds of prey or owls were reported, plus 32 incidents involving other birds.

A person was caught destroying house martin nests in the Sandwich area by blasting them off the side of a building with a garden hose.

Hester Phillips, of the RSPB, said: "The South East accounts for a small proportion of crime against birds across the UK, which is something we should be proud of, but one incident is still too many.

"Nationally, the number of reports coming in are the highest we've ever had, but we're still only seeing the tip of the iceberg.

"It's hard to say whether the problem is increasing or whether we're just getting to hear about more offences. What is clear is that very large numbers of birds are being illegally killed every year and that is unacceptable in a civilised society.

"There has to be a greater effort to enforce the law."

Hotel flue fails to impress town council

A NEW stainless steel flue at the rear of the Bell Hotel in Sandwich is not a good idea says the town council.

They have recommended permission for the outlet alongside the Grade-II listed building be refused. One of the reasons is that the hotel backs on to Bell Lane which is classified as a highway.

The recommendation will now be discussed by planners from Dover District Council, who will have the final say.

Beaten unconscious by gang of youths

A MAN from Dover suffered a suspected broken nose and jaw after being attacked in Deal town centre.

The 21-year-old was walking through the precinct on Thursday, September 3, when a youths near the benches outside New Look started abusing him.

He woke up in the back of an ambulance and doesn't remember what happened. A woman saw a group of youths aged between 16 and 18 running and cycling away from the High Street and shortly afterwards found the man unconscious.

He was treated for facial cuts at the QEQM Hospital, Margate, and may need further treatment.

Police are appealing for witnesses to the assault, which took place between 8.40pm and 9pm.

Contact the police on 01303 289180 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111 if you can help.

Hearing aid clinics

FREE aftercare clinics are being held for hearing aid users.

Advisers from charity Hi Kent will be at Age Concern at the Riverside Centre, Maison Dieu Gardens, Dover, every Wednesday and Thursday, from 10am-noon.

A clinic is also being held today (Wednesday) from 9.30am-11am at Age Concern, Sneller House, 19-21 The Cattle Market, Sandwich.

People with NHS hearing aids can get them cleaned and re-tubed, and collect batteries.

Advice will be available as well as information about Hi Kent's range of equipment, including smoke alarms, telephones and conversation aids.

Green Flag pride at park built on Chunnel chalk

■ BY MARIJKE COX

SAMPHIRE Hoe has been named as one of the finest country parks in the land.

And it's all down to the volunteers who help out, according to Paul Holt, chief warden of the wildlife park near Dover.

For the fifth year running, the 30-hectare piece of land, which was created from chalk marl dug from under the sea when the Channel Tunnel was built, has been awarded a Green Flag.

Owned by Eurotunnel and managed by the White Cliffs Countryside Project, the land has become a magnet for visitors with more than 100,000 exploring the flora and fauna each year.

The Green Flag award recognises it as one of the best parks in the UK and it was praised by judges for its excellent facilities, well managed space and amenities. Mr Holt, who has worked at Samphire Hoe since it was first developed 11 years ago, said it would have come to ruin had it not been for the team of volunteers who regularly help out.

"We have 16 people from the community who come down and spend their free time looking after this new bit of countryside," he said.

"Without them we wouldn't have been able to achieve the Green Flag. They carry out wildlife surveys and pick up the rubbish people have left."

"It's a real community place. There's something about Samphire Hoe that people love."

"They come through the tunnels in the cliff and get to discover a hidden world. Once people have discovered it, they usually come back."

The land was created with 4.9 million cubic metres of chalk marl from under the Channel.

Mr Holt said he has watched the land develop and unusual wildlife settle over the years he has looked after the park.

"We have lots of different birds herem including kestrels and the stonechat," he said.

"People come from all around to enjoy the wildlife and they can do so 365 days of the year."

CHEERED ON BY THE CHEEKY GIRLS

A GRUELLING walk from Dover to Brighton in aid of progeria sufferer Hayley Okines has been completed by a team from Dover Carnival Association Ltd.

And in Rye they were met by pop singers the Cheeky Girls, Gabriela and Monica, pictured above with the walkers.

Hayley, 11, who suffers from Hutchinson Gilford progeria syndrome which causes accelerated ageing, met the carnival court with her family at the finish line in Brighton. Former boxer Chris Eubank, who was expected to meet the walkers, failed to show. Mandie Sehmbi, chairman and director of DCAL, said: "It was an incredible weekend. The youngsters were so committed to raising money for Hayley. It was lovely seeing their determination."

The group hopes to have raised £1,200 to help pay for Hayley's treatment. DCAL is also looking to raise money for seven-year-old Faith, from Dove, who needs a specialist wheelchair. On Saturday, the carnival court helped at the Richard Digance evening at Dover Town Hall.

Stalking county's mystery big cats

LOOKING out of your kitchen window and seeing a puma lounging in the garden is the last thing you would expect in Kent.

But it happened just weeks ago to a resident of St Margaret's, near Dover, according to big-cat expert and author Neil Arnold.

And the researcher claims some 30 genuine sighting of big cats, including pumas and leopards, have been logged in the district in recent times.

"Dover has always been quite a prominent place for them, so I'm not surprised when someone reports a big-cat sighting," he said. "A woman recently reported seeing a labrador-sized puma in her garden in St Margaret's-at-Cliffe."

This was followed by a second sighting weeks later of a fawn-coloured puma on cliffs above the port's Eastern Docks.

Mr Arnold, whose book, Mystery Animals of the British Isles: Kent, was published in March, said there were more big cats roaming the county than people realised.

"People tend to sensationalise it, but it's no big mystery, really," he said.

"They're solitary animals which hunt at night, but still come out in the sunshine, like domestic cats. So of course people sometimes see them."

■ BY MARIJKE COX

Mr Arnold put the presence of the big cats down to an influx of wild pets in the 1970s.

"People would buy big cats to look flash," he said. "But in 1976 the Dangerous Wild Animals Act came in and people couldn't afford the licence. Zoos were turning them away, so people set them free in the nearest remote woodland."

"It goes back so much further than that, though. In the 1800s it was very popular to have big cats and, even further back, the Romans used to bring them over."

"They also used to be popular with circuses. They've been roaming the countryside for years."

He added that two years ago a large exotic cat was killed on a road in Dover.

But sightings of pumas, lynx and black leopards, which are the species most commonly seen, should not frighten people.

"It's unlikely they would ever approach a human, unless they were agitated," said Mr Arnold.

To buy a copy of the Mystery Animals of the British Isles: Kent, phone 01634 830384 or email neil.arnold@live.com.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Channel Hop return trek

HUNDREDS of walkers from Calais have explored the east Kent countryside.

Eight guided walks around Dover and Folkestone were organised as part of the Channel Hop programme, a partnership between Kent County Council and its French equivalent, the Conseil General du Pas-de-Calais.

Myriam Caron, European partnership manager for KCC, said: "It was great to see new friendships developing between Kent and Pas-de-Calais residents."

The walkers split into groups to tackle one of five walks: the Royal Military Canal; Dover's Western Heights, Samphire Hoe, Langdon Cliffs and the North Downs Trail.

A return day of walks is being organised in Wissant, Pas-de-Calais, on Sunday, October 4, and about 200 Kent residents have signed up for the event. For more information see www.thechannelhop.co.uk.

Park bench vandal attack

POLICE are appealing for information after two park benches were damaged by youths.

Five boys, three described as white and two as black, in their mid to late teens, were seen vandalising two mahogany benches just after 6pm on Wednesday, August 26.

A number of people were in Russell Gardens, Temple Ewell, near Dover, at the time and officers would like to hear from anybody who saw anything.

Contact PCSO Jason Brett on 07772 226154, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111, if you can help.

MP's big-hearted walkers

BRITISH Heart Foundation campaigners have taken part in their annual sponsored walk in Deal.

About 50 people trekked from Sandown Castle to Kingsdown and back, accompanied by Dover and Deal MP Gwyn Prosser in what was his tenth walk for the charity.

Praising the organisers and participants, the Labour MP said: "Heart disease is one of the biggest killers in this country and I've been pleased to support BHF campaigns."

"In the last 20 years the Deal and Sandwich branch has raised £100,000 towards research and support projects."

Rookie cops have train-ing day

NEWLY-qualified officers have been given a taste of real-life policing at Dover Priory railway station.

The officers worked with a police drugs dog and the British Transport Police in an operation to target criminals using the railway network.

Thirty-nine people were stopped and searched and an 18-year-old was arrested for possessing a lock knife.

A 45-year-old woman was arrested for being in breach of bail conditions and three people were formally cautioned for possession of cannabis.

A drunk was also removed from the platform and British Transport Police issued six penalty tickets.

Ticket office staff said revenue was up by about £1,000 suggesting the police presence helped crack down on fare dodgers.

Sgt Mark Wells (pictured right), team leader, said the operation was held in response to public concern about antisocial behaviour, drugs and stolen property.

He said: "We received positive comments from the public and we will be repeating the exercise in the future."

"It has also given the newly-qualified officers valuable experience in how to conduct searches and gather intelligence."

AT SEA: Deal Pier has been shortlisted for an award

Pier could soon be boasting yet another project award

DEAL Pier has been shortlisted for another award by the Royal Institute of British Architects.

The pier – which has received numerous plaudits since it was built was chosen from the 103 RIBA award-winning buildings announced earlier this year.

The building, which was officially opened in November 2008, was recognised as being of excellent quality by the RIBA panel – one of the most influential architectural bodies in the UK.

Judges said when they made the award that the pier is: "a beautiful addition to the town and seascape. It provides perfectly the experience a pier building should, that of being part of, as well as framing, views of the sea."

It is also much used by fishermen and the café on the end has also received much praise for its design, ambience and the food on offer.

The pier has now been put forward for the Stephen Lawrence Prize. This rewards the best examples of projects that were built on a budget of less than £1 million and the £5,000 prize is intended to encourage fresh talent.

The award is judged by architect and past President of the RIBA Marco Goldschmidt, and Doreen Lawrence OBE, mother of Stephen who wanted to become an architect before he was murdered in 1993. The winner will be announced on October 17.

QUESTION & ANSWER

GRANT CHAPMAN

Q Can you tell us a little about your background?

A I trained as a chef for three years and worked in the catering industry for another two years before changing careers and moving to Royal Mail, where I was a postman for a year. I then moved to their human resources department and started life as a trainer; the main part of the role was to train the new recruits on how to be a postman. After staying there for five years I decided I wanted a change, so I went into sales and during my time in sales I sold all sorts of things. I then got my job at Macmillan.

Q How did you get involved with the charity?

A I knew about Macmillan because my nan had a Macmillan nurse. But to be honest I'd never thought about working for a charity, I'd worked in the catering industry, in the public sector and also in sales, but I'd never really felt true job satisfaction. I signed on with a recruitment agency and a month later a role as a community fundraiser in Kent came up, the agency put me forward and the rest is history. I'd like to add that I've totally found the job satisfaction I had been looking for.

Q Can you tell us a little bit about the charity?

A Macmillan Cancer Support improves the lives of people affected by cancer. We provide practical, medical, emotional and financial support, and push for better cancer care. Many people know about our Macmillan nurses and rightly so as they do an amazing job, but the other work we do such as campaigning and providing financial support to families living with cancer in financial difficulties is so important.

Q What does your job involve?

A I manage a team of four fundraising managers who cover Kent and Surrey, so along with managing them and being there to support them, I also look to do my own fundraising. My key areas that I work with are companies across both counties and also the media, who are key to raising awareness of Macmillan's work.

Q What is the most challenging part of your job?

A I think the most challenging thing is giving myself enough time to fundraise in both counties while making sure my team have the support they need. It's a nice challenge though.

Q What is the best thing about working for Macmillan Cancer Support?

A There's lots of reason why I love working here, the people that work for Macmillan are great and everyone cares about the job they are doing, but I think the best thing about working here, is the feeling of knowing I've made a difference to the lives of people living with cancer.

Q Do you get a lot of volunteers signing up to help out?

A We have a brilliant team of volunteers, the work they do for Macmillan is fantastic and without them we couldn't achieve the things we do. We always welcome anyone who would like to volunteer so I would encourage anyone thinking about volunteering to go for it.

Q How do people sign up to volunteer at Macmillan Cancer Support?

A It's really easy. Just give the office a call on 01622 600050 or go to the website www.macmillan.org.uk.

Q What qualities are you looking for in people wanting to help out?

A I think everyone has something to offer whether you'd like to become an events volunteer, a collections co-ordinator or join one of our brilliant fundraising groups, there's a volunteering opportunity for you.

Q What do you like to do in your spare time away from work?

A My biggest interest outside of work is football, however I'm not playing anymore, so now it's purely watching. I'm a massive West Ham fan. I enjoy playing golf but I must admit I'm very poor. I also like to run, this started when I ran the London Marathon for Macmillan two years ago.

Bereaved mum targets drug dealer 'parasites'

Every parent worries their child will become involved in drugs and there are many ways Kent Police are involved in fighting dealers and trying to educate teenagers. This week, as part of our A Safer Kent series, we meet the mother of a young woman who died after taking what she believed was cocaine and discover how she is trying to stop others suffering the same fate. Reporter Marijke Cox speaks to Angela Pett about her daughter's death and the education programme she has now launched.

A GRIEVING mother has launched a campaign to stamp out "parasite" drug dealers who played a hand in her daughter's death.

Angela, 46, and Ian Pett, 49, and their son Joe, 23, were left devastated last October when 20-year-old Haniska died after taking cocaine on a night out.

The young hairdresser had bought the drugs from 'friends' who, according to Angela, had cut the drug with MDMA – a form of ecstasy – amphetamines, and BZP, a worming tablet for cows. There was only five per cent cocaine found in the powder.

Angela said: "I know it was Haniska's choice, but these dealers cut it with whatever they can to make more money."

"They pretend to be your friends, but they're not. The people who sold it to Haniska had bought it off dealers who had bought it off someone else and they had all cut it as it passed down the line."

"The big misconception is that people think you can't die from cocaine, but you can and my daughter's death proves that."

Angela is now using Haniska to teach others not to dabble in what are seen as recreational drugs. She plans to go to schools to tell youngsters about the dangers.

"Children need to be educated about drugs from as young as 14," she said.

"The police have been brilliant, but I think when it comes to going to schools to talk to children it would be better coming from someone who has experienced what drugs can do. I'd tell them that everyone has choices and one of them is life."

Angela said she has already been to pubs and clubs with police in Gravesend to watch them tackle the problem.

"They have special lights which show up cocaine traces and in one girls' toilet there wasn't a surface without it on," she said.

"The police are doing a good job though and pubs are really cracking down with searches and drop boxes for people to get rid of drugs, no questions asked."

Fun-loving

But she stressed the main problem is that taking cocaine is seen as socially acceptable.

"People think only heroin kills, but coke can too," she said. "The public view of drug-users is that they are thieves who steal to feed their habit, but with cocaine it's not like that. A lot of young professionals take it and in the case of my daughter, she worked hard but unfortunately spent her money on it."

Angela said she had known about Haniska's drug taking and had warned her.

The detrimental effect on her "beautiful and fun-loving" daughter was heartbreaking.

"Haniska was extremely caring, loud and funny, but after a heavy weekend, she would get very moody and her nose would sometimes bleed. I can't believe she's gone, and all because of drugs."

TRAGIC LOSS: Angela with a photo of Haniska

"It's so upsetting that the parasite dealers who sold it to her are still out there."

"The police worked hard to get a conviction, but there isn't enough evidence. I'm not going to let this go. If I stop then they've won and Haniska's death was a waste."

DRUG FACT FILE

- Kent Police and local drug and alcohol teams are working to tackle drug-related crime and prevent deaths.
- Police are also working with pubs and clubs. This includes using technology to detect drugs and projecting messages about the dangers onto buildings.
- During a recent Tackling Drugs Week, police recovered more than 500g of cocaine with a street value of £22,000. They also made more than 50 arrests, many for dealing.
- During the action week 41 schools in Kent were visited by officers who warned pupils about the dangers.
- From 2008-09 Kent Police detected 3,912 drug offences, of which 644 related to the supply and production of drugs.
- A recent report into drug related deaths in the UK, from St George's University London, showed that nationally nine per cent of over 2,000 UK drug related deaths were linked to cocaine use.

You can ask the chief

NEXT month Kent police chief Michael Fuller has agreed to answer questions from our readers about any aspect of policing.

Chief Constable Michael Fuller said: "I am delighted to be able to talk to the people of Kent via your pages and I look forward to hearing from you, and having the chance to let you know how we are making the county an even better place to live."

This is the third week of our A Safer Kent campaign looking behind the scenes at Kent Police to discover some of the stories behind the headlines as our 3,640 police officers help look after a population of 1.65 million.

Last week we featured the officer who came to Kent from one of Britain's most notorious areas for gun crime, bringing the expertise to ensure we remain alert and protected.

Next week we look at the hi-tech number plate reading technology on which police are increasingly using to monitor the movements of criminals.

To ask the Chief Constable a question, email editorial@kosmedia.co.uk or write to the editor at this newspaper: Apple Barn, Hythe Road, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent TN25 6SR.

We will carry as many answers as we can in our edition of October 7.

BREAK TIME

Cycle ride to send cows out to Africa

PRIMARY school pupils are getting ready to take part in the Rotary Club of Deal's 'Bike-a-Cow' sponsored cycle ride.

Youngsters will hit the track at Fowlmead Country Park on Saturday, September 19, in aid of the Send-a-Cow charity, which sends pregnant Friesian cows to several countries in Africa.

Rotarians visited schools across the district to talk to the children about the Christian charity.

The British Friesian cow provides around 10 times more milk than an African cow.

For details of the scheme call the Rotary Club of Deal on 01304 366929 or visit www.sendacow.org.uk.

Travel plan group wins police award

STUDENTS from Castle Community College in Deal have been commended by Kent Police after designing a travel plan to make school journeys safer.

Charlotte Dickason, 13, Katie Smith, 13, and Daniel Austen, 14, won the Young People of the Year award after forming the Travel Plan Action Group.

The trio urged youngsters to cycle to school and teamed up with PCSOs to hold bike workshops. A slogan was also developed to encourage pupils to walk to school – "Don't congest, walk the rest."

A grant of £100 was given to the students by external assessors and they have donated it to Castle Community College.

Pupils hope Olympic torch relay will show true passion

BY MARIJKE COX

AN OLYMPIC torch designed by pupils from secondary schools across the district is to begin a relay tour of the 53 schools in Dover, Deal and Sandwich.

It will arrive by sea at the Prince of Wales pier at 10am on Friday, September 25, and be received by Josh Barrett, the grandson of John Barrett, the 1948 Olympic torch bearer who lives in Walmer.

Like the 1948 London Games, it will then be passed to a relay team, but this time the members will be made up from young people from the district's schools.

The torch will be passed along the pier, marking the start of the Pass the Passion schools torch relay, and then travel to each school who will celebrate its arrival before it moves on.

The name Pass the Passion was created by youngsters during a workshop held at The Ark in Dover in April last year.

A song which was written by the children will be performed by the Pass the Passion choir at a celebration of the Olympics at The Guildhall in Sandwich on October 2.

Mike Hill, Kent County Council cabinet member for communities, said: "It is quite a feat to carry a torch to every school in Dover, Deal and Sandwich."

"But there is real enthusiasm for repeating history and hopefully this will give residents the opportunity to enjoy a taste of the excitement to come around in 2012."

SPARK OF INSPIRATION: Former torch bearer John Barrett at the Pass the Passion workshop children last year

Officials from Kent County Council hope the relay event will show organisers of the London Games how enthusiastic Kent is about having the chance to welcome the torch through Dover in 2012, like it did in 1948.

The town is battling against other competitors, including Aberdeen, Belfast and Liverpool, to become the welcoming point.

A huge street party and firework display was held last year in a bid to show the London Olympic organising committee how determined the county is win the honour of receiving the torch when it reaches the UK for the Games.

It is hoped a decision will be made by the summer of 2010.

Sid's mug not in the breast possible taste

Ugly Mug Amnesty brings ceramic crimes out of the closet

■ BY JON COATES

AN ALL The Breast Jimmy Jones mug – pictured above with Sid the dog – is the winner of the first Ugly Mug Amnesty.

Kurstie Long, from Folkestone, entered as soon as we opened the hunt for the ugliest mug in Kent.

The mug, which belongs to her mum Louise, was the frontrunner throughout most of the two-month search and just managed to stay a-breast of the competition.

But it was nearly pipped at the finishing post by a frog mug sent in by Maggie Francis of Penenden Heath, Maidstone, two weeks ago. Her snap of her vessel nestled in a pot plant holder has been awarded second place in the Ugly Mug Amnesty.

Third place goes to pensioner William Harrison, 61, from Canterbury, a volunteer for Age Concern Canterbury.

His Simply the Breast and Feeling Cocky mugs were given to him by his family to match his sense of humour.

Miss Long bought the All The Breast

SECOND: Frog mug owned by Maggie Francis

THIRD: William Harrison from Canterbury

Jimmy Jones mug at a boot fair two years ago for 50p. She said: "I think it is collectable and comes from the 1970s. I collect mugs."

KOS Media launched the search for the most quirky or bizarre drinking mug in the county at the end of July to kick-start Macmillan Cancer Supoport's major fundraising event, the World's Biggest Coffee Morning.

The Ugly Mug Amnesty aimed to find the wackiest or most embarrassing mmug lurking at the back of Kent's cupboards.

Miss Long will receive a World's Biggest Coffee Morning Mug from Macmillan

MILKING IT: Sid the dog with the winning mug, submitted by Kurstie Long of Folkestone

Cancer Support and a £50 Coffee Gift Set from KOS Media.

The World's Biggest Coffee Morning is Macmillan's flagship fundraiser and takes place this year on Friday, September 25.

Now in its 19th year, it has become one of the biggest fundraising events in Britain.

Macmillan asks the pubic to host or attend a coffee morning, with all donations going directly to those affected by cancer.

Last year the World's Biggest Coffee Morning raised £7.5 million and the target this year is more than £8 million nationwide. But we are calling on all our readers to help make Kent the biggest fund-raiser in the county.

We'll be holding a coffee morning for staff on September 25 and urge businesses across the county to join in too.

Macmillan has 120 health professionals active across Kent helping patients and their families deal with cancer.

Their support means people do not have to face harrowing ordeals on their own.

• To take part in the World's Biggest Coffee Morning, visit www.macmillan.org.uk/coffee to register and pick up fund-raising tips, or call 0845 602 1246. Make sure you enter the code RNA 10 so Macmillan know you are a KOS Media reader.

'Cocaine' energy drink under fire

A DRINKS firm has defended its new product – Simply Cocaine – after it came under fire from anti-drugs groups.

It comes just a year after another company in the county, Ocke Cokey of Tunbridge Wells, was also attacked for planning to launch a British version of an American drink, called Cut Cocaine.

Simply Drinks, in Hawkhurst, launched their new bottle last month, advertised as a high-energy drink with a lemon fizz, featuring a character called Charlie.

It contains twice the caffeine of a Red Bull drink and the company says the product is only for those over the age of 18. As such, they have advised wholesalers it should not be sold in shops or supermarkets, but instead to bars and clubs who are happy to stock it. Owner of Simply Drinks, Daniel Evemy, said the drink, which is also available to buy online, is proving popular.

"It is targeted at 18 to 35 year olds with a sense of humour," he said. "There's no cocaine in it – it's 100 per cent legal. Energy drinks are a £1 billion a year industry and we wanted to get in there. We knew we'd be attacked, it's a contentious name, but so was Opium perfume when it was launched.

"I think it's better to talk about these things rather than brush them under the carpet. We're just targeting our market, there's no harm meant by it."

But the launch has angered anti-drug charities. Martin Barnes, chief executive of DrugScope, said: "This is little more than an intentionally provocative, cynical but rather tired marketing stunt. I'm sure most people will see through the branding ploy for what it is, but making light of an illegal drug that can, and does, cause harm isn't helpful or smart."

FIZZING: Simply Cocaine is aimed at the 18-35s

Gareth Arnold thinks some parents were simply showing their ignorance in the school sheep slaughter row

Surely this lamb chop was a valuable lesson on life

THE debaa-cle over whether an Ashford school's lamb should be given the chop highlights the fact that Britain is still a long way from seeing sense when it comes to the food on our plates.

The likes of Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall and Jamie Oliver almost had me convinced that finally we had lost some of our dangerous and unrealistic sentimentality when it comes to the animals we eat.

But no.

Not for a very small group of parents at Lydd Primary School (and the lovely Mr Paul O'Grady) at least, who have decided that they know best. Fortunately sense prevailed on Monday when the world said 'Goodbye Marcus – hello lamb chops for tea.'

Marcus is of course the sheep at the centre of the farmyard fiasco, hand-reared by the children on their school farm. A fine animal of famous Romney Marsh stock, who was ready to go for slaughter, providing the meat for which the area has rightly become famous.

The pupils, who raised him seemed to have a more rational grasp of the situation than a couple of parents, despite being aged between seven and 11, and voted to pack him off to the abattoir and sell the meat to buy more lambs.

As these children have obviously learned, this process is called farming. Humans have been doing it for roughly 10,000 years.

You'd think we'd have got used to the concept by now, but some parents are embarrassing themselves and no doubt their offspring by calling for a stay of execution.

Most of the opponenets are, no doubt, people who enjoy their meat just as much as the rest of us, with one rather glaring caveat: they don't want to know where it comes from.

It is this ignorance that has allowed cruel practices like battery farms to flourish. If we don't know where our meat comes from, we don't care.

And as the old adage goes, out of sight, out of mind. Nowhere is this more evident than Britain's food production methods, and we've paid the price for decades, with substandard meat, BSE, salmonella and one food scare after another.

The children at Lydd will not repeat this mistake if they are allowed to see their hard work come to its logical fruition and slaughter a happy animal they have raised humanely.

They will grow up understanding that meat comes from animals, not factories, and that these animals have lives and must be cared for properly until it is time to eat them.

So, well done to the head teacher for sticking to her guns.

WIN Dairmuid's latest book

We've got six signed copies to give away

CELEBRITY garden designer and television presenter Diarmuid Gavin is coming to Kent to launch his new book, Planting.

Brought to The Secret Gardens of Sandwich by independent local bookseller The Sandwich Bookshop, the launch will be held in a marquee in the heart of the beautiful Lutyens and Jekyll gardens and will provide an opportunity for visitors to meet Diarmuid and hear him talk about the book.

Following on from the hugely successful Outdoors, Planting is the ultimate guide to designing and planning a planting scheme for your garden.

Diarmuid Gavin and Sir Terence Conran explore nature's vast palette of plants, where they come from, what grows naturally in which conditions, but most importantly how they are used in the gardens all around the world and how you can use them in your own garden.

With more than 400 stunning photographs, Planting is inspiring, imaginative and practical. This is a garden design book that reflects the unique talents and experience of these two authors.

Diarmuid Gavin's book launch will take place at The Secret Gardens of Sandwich on Saturday, October 3. The marquee will open at 2pm, with the event itself starting at 2.30pm. Tickets are £12 or £10 for season ticket holders (includes garden entry).

For more information about the beautiful venue or to book tickets to the launch see www.the-secretgardens.co.uk.

We have six Planting books signed by the pair to give away.

To enter, simply answer the question below and send your entry on a postcard along with your email address (if applicable), name, address, and daytime telephone number to Diarmuid Gavin Book Competition, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent, TN25 6SR. The closing date is September 30, 2009.

YOUR LETTERS

Litterbugs turning town into a dump

Does nobody care about litter any more? I was on The Leas at the time of the air-sea rescue operation, but I was watching all the people eating their lunches.

When they finished, they simply got up and left, leaving all their rubbish – burger wrappers, cartons, cigarette packets etc – on the grass. Only yards away was a rubbish bin.

I see it all the time and it's not only youngsters. Families walk along and drop litter as they go.

They also drive along Churchill Avenue and throw trash out of their windows.

To describe some of these people as pigs would be insulting to pigs.

Do you like living in a rubbish dump?

John O'Neon, Folkestone

Not to fast in lauding the new trains, Nigel

Congratulations to Cllr Nigel Collor on his invitation to board the inaugural high-speed train from Dover last week.

But can he spare a thought for those of us who will have to put up with a service which is going to be worse from December?

Having looked at the draft timetable, the journey from Dover and intermediate stations to Canterbury will be longer because of additional stops between Chatham and London.

There is a mid-afternoon gap of two hours in stopping trains which is bound to cause inconvenience.

But the worst change involves trains from Sandwich, Deal and Dover and the intermediate stations.

For those of us going to Charing Cross, the journey time will be up to two hours and 20 minutes, often with a change in Ashford. Services on this line will call at every station between Ashford and Tonbridge. How can this be labelled an improvement?

I hope Cllr Collor can put pressure on Southeastern to do something about this – I and my Labour colleagues will be calling on Dover District Council as well as Kent County Council to do everything possible to get Southeastern to improve its proposed services.

Cllr Ben Bano, Labour group leader, Dover District Council

In a spin over police claims on crime drop

The recent claim by the local police commander that crime in Folkestone was dropping because fewer criminals had been caught was my favourite for spin story of the year.

However, we now have the report that Shepway council is in line for an award because it is giving away more taxpayers' money as housing and council tax benefits in less time. I wonder how long these people would survive as private-sector managers.

Terry Kendall, Folkestone

Can't win argument, so stifle the debate

Shepway's Tories are frightened of democracy. What is becoming increasingly clear is their intention to keep democracy in the dark. Because of an inability to defend their actions through honest debate, they have stooped to the level of silencing criticism of any sort by whatever possible means.

Look to Hythe, where the town mayor (and Shepway's cabinet member for housing) publicly stated she wished no further debate on the Hotel Imperial housing development and went on to refuse the call for a town council meeting to discuss the latest issues.

Knowing the law, however, the two new Liberal Democrat members have forced her to call one.

At a previous town council meeting, this mayor prevented an opposition councillor from asking a question, not knowing the content of the question – and she certainly wasn't prepared to find out.

As for the district council, the Tory cabinet attempted to have its discussions about the future of The Leas cliff lift in private.

The Tories are now trying to change the council's constitution so the public will need to collect considerably more signatures for any petition to be heard.

They have reduced the number of full council meetings and have removed the customary (and constitutionally agreed) opposition member from chairing its cabinet scrutiny committee.

As for me, a Hythe West district councillor, I have been refused access to a crucial officer's report on the development proposals for Hythe's Fisherman's Beach.

And why, after being warned months and months ago, that the considerable public interest dictated using a large venue for the Lydd Airport debate and decision, have they opted to use the council chamber instead – with its very limited public seating capacity?

It is no wonder our Conservative-controlled district council is the least-improved in the country, ranked 388th out of 388. To have proper democracy in our government, at whatever level, proposals must stand up to robust debate. When this is stifled – think hard. It's time for change.

Neil Matthews, Lib Dem parliamentary spokesman, Folkestone and Hythe

No-one impeded bid to help beach victim

I have never before been tempted to comment on a newspaper article, but in reference to the story 'Sea rescue hampered by crowds' (August 26), I could not let the chance to comment go by.

I was at the scene from the time a beachgoer came over to the cafe asking if there was a doctor present, to the time the helicopters left.

At no time did onlookers fail to move for, or cause any disruption to, the professionals working so hard to help their patient.

A few things that may have contributed to these reports are:

- The helicopter appeared to want to land in an area that was not at all concerned with the above mentioned rescue and made two or three passes over the wrong area.
- The police presence, while huge, seemed concerned only with finding witnesses, not crowd control, which they only attempted twice.
- No thanks have been mentioned for the men, clearly medical professionals, who raced to the scene to assist the woman before any other teams arrived.
- There may of course be a reason the article has been written this way, perhaps to encourage people to be more aware at the scene of any accident, but on a personal note I resent the inference that I, or any of the families around me, hampered any attempt by the rescue services, who were quite marvellous, from doing their job.

Mandy, by email

This roads hierarchy penalises motorists

The letter from Hazel Dawe of Kent Green Party (Yourshepway, September 2) contained comments on the level of rail fares that many might agree with.

However, the railway network is a hugely expensive thing to run, already sucking in huge subsidies, which would have to increase further should fares reduce.

Any changes to the set up would be down to central government – and therefore have little to do with Kent County Council, which is responsible for (a lot of) highways.

She then turns to congestion in Kent, where I take issue.

We already have a local transport plan, which already contains a road user hierarchy, pretty much on the lines she wants.

The Association of British Drivers deplores this, and far from wanting more, wants an end to the whole hierarchy mindset.

It is this hierarchy that, by giving priority to a select politically-correct few and restricting road space to everyone else, is partly responsible for the congestion nobody wants.

This is being done in the name of cutting carbon emissions.

With every month that passes, new sound scientific evidence increasingly shows the whole carbon-induced climate change scenario to be a manufactured myth, jumped on and used by politically-motivated activists (and pretty dictatorial ones at that) and greedy politicians jumping on the bandwagon.

However, even if that were not the case, our road transport accounts for such a tiny proportion of emissions as to be meaningless – and even that gets progressively ‘cleaner’ year by year. Carry on motoring – and do so with a clear conscience. More than 92 per cent of passenger journeys in the UK are by road, and 86 per cent by private car.

That is the transport of choice for most, and likely to remain so for all but the shortest of trips.

The railways do indeed suffer from under-investment, but the roads more so. Drivers are stung with duties and taxes to the tune of more than £46 billion a year, yet a mere £8bn of that goes back to highways – a vital national infrastructure.

That’s before councils pile in with more charges for the likes of parking. Now I know this money is not ring-fenced and I don’t object to some of it going into the general pot.

But that amount is woefully inadequate. That’s why we have to suffer a dearth of new/improved roads, and those we have are not properly maintained.

There will be an election next year. There are some 30 million drivers in the UK – that could be a formidable voice. Time to stand up and be heard.

The Association of British Drivers will be launching campaigns on several issues between now and the election with the overall theme of demanding a fair deal for motorists.

Ian Taylor,
Association of British Drivers

Dignity drowned out by boorish applause

A town council meeting on September 8, led by Folkestone mayor Janet Andrews, said it would be all right for people to applaud during the veterans’ parade – which includes the two-minute silence – if they wanted to, in spite of the embarrassment it caused veterans last year.

What has happened to our society when celebration becomes a substitute for an act of sorrow? Where is this leading?

Where we once stood in reverent silence, heads bowed, are we now to burst into applause?

How about asking the Queen to call for three cheers as the poppies float from the ceiling at the Royal Albert Hall? So, if someone bursts into applause on Remembrance Sunday, how are we to take it?

Do we take it as a terrorist celebrating the fact that the death toll in Afghanistan is climbing daily, or do we take it that some thoughtless person is slavishly following the fashion of breaking into applause at the drop of a hat because nobody has taught them how to behave properly?

Just to clarify the position, perhaps, why don’t we just ask people to stand up and cheer every time another one of our soldiers bites the dust?

TOP flyers from all over the world will be doing battle in the Big Sky International Kite Festival this weekend.

The sky is the limit as kite experts from across the globe make the long journey to Thanet, simply to prove that they have what it takes to dazzle the crowds with their highflying antics. Now in its third year, the two-day event is jointly organised by Margate Town Partnership and the Kite Society of Great Britain.

The attractions include displays by top flyers from as far afield as New Zealand and Australia, keen to demonstrate their agility and skill. Pedro and Esteban Gonzales will be bringing some of Spain's warmth to Kent with their soft inflatable kites depicting suns and devils, while world-renowned Kiwi kite maker, Peter Lynn, shows off his cats, trilobites and manta rays. Kite designer Robert van Weers will also travel from New Zealand to exhibit his collection of soft kite animals, from fish to monkeys.

Belgium is represented by innovative designer, Jos Valcke, Team True Colours with their distinctive mix of soft kites and Team Atomic, whose collection includes Paddington Bear and huge octopuses. Holland's Kite Team will be making a splash with their giant champagne bottle, while fellow Dutchman Jan van Leeuwen presents his school bus and Janneke Groen impresses with her complex appliqué kites.

Father and son team,

Bryan and Carl Wright, will be among those appearing for the UK, along with the Avon Kite Flyers, Brighton Kite Flyers and Andrew Beattie. See the prize-winning synchronised flying of France's four-man team, Tatoueurs du Ciel, the power kite theatrics and dancing of Son of the Winds and the beautiful collection belonging to Phil McConnochie, all the way from Australia.

Bernard Dingworth and kite colleague Jan Nelkenbrecher, from Germany, exhibit their soft seal, salamander and appliqué kites. Jan will be sharing the sands with fellow Germans Walter, Conny and Stefan Bloom who visit the UK for the first time with their large inflatable characters, such as Asterix and Spider Bear.

With workshops, stalls and other attractions on offer, visitors can simply enjoy the spectacle or buy their own kite and send it soaring into the skies. The event runs from 10am to 5pm.

DAVE SPIKEY

Saturday, September 26
Leas Cliff Hall, Folkestone

COMEDIAN Dave Spikey will prove that laughter is the best medicine with his latest stand-up show.

Following the show's huge success last year, The Best Medicine - Repeat Prescription is heading to Shepway next week to give fans a welcome injection of laughter. Spikey is a well-known TV personality, having appeared as a team captain in four series of Channel 4's 8 Out of 10 Cats and as Jerry St Clair in acclaimed comedy, Phoenix Nights.

He is also a gifted writer, having penned Phoenix Nights with co-star Peter Kay and the comic's previous series, That Peter Kay Thing, along with his own solo projects. But many people might not be aware that he has a background in healthcare, having worked as a biomedical scientist for more than 25 years. He had been enjoying comedy success for about 10 years before deciding to give up the day job and he is determined to continue promoting the nation's health by encouraging people to laugh.

The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £18.50. To book call the box office on 0844 847 1776 or visit the website at www.leascliffhall.org.uk.

JAMES SHERLOCK

Friday, September 25
Town Hall, Deal

AWARD-WINNING pianist James Sherlock will play the first of Deal Festival's three autumn concerts.

Following the success of this year's summer Festival of Music, the entertainment continues with a performance by this remarkable musician. Sherlock was the gold medallist of the Marcello Galanti International Organ Competition in 2005 and went on to win BBC's Fame Academy: The Next Generation two years later.

Increasingly in demand as a performer and communicator, Sherlock also works extensively as an accompanist. While his recording of David Earl's Cello Sonata was named the runner-up Best New Disc by International Piano Magazine in 2007, he also plays the lighter side of music at prestigious London venues such as The Ivy, the Belvedere and the Grosvenor Hotel.

The concert programme will include works by Chopin, Ravel, Mozart, Bach, Messiaen and César Franck. The concert starts at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £10 for just this concert, £18 for two concerts in the series or £24 for all three. Tickets are available from The Sound House in High Street, Deal. For more information on the series visit www.dealfestival.co.uk.

Pistols will do their reggae roots proud at Farmhouse

REGGAE has a lot to answer for.

I appreciate the genre has spawned such greats as Bob Marley and Jimmy Cliff, but that's reggae in its purest and truest form.

The 'reggae' I despise comes in the form of the early to mid-90s pop adaptation.

Think muscle-clad singer turned reality TV star and recent divorcee Peter Andre, chart-topping duo Chaka Demus and Pliers, and Shabba Ranks.

All three should be tried for crimes against reggae.

But while the genre has given birth to countless more questionable 'reggae stars' – Sean Paul anyone? – it has also given the world a host of ground-breaking and influential bands.

The likes of The Specials, Madness and The Police all based their sound on solid reggae roots.

And the sub-genres they helped create – such as 2 tone, ska and dub – continue to inspire.

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

One of the leading reggae-rooted outfits playing today are the London-based Dub Pistols, providers of top quality dub and big beat tracks.

The six-piece have built a loyal following thanks to their varied sound and energetic live sets.

Having performed the Lounge on the Farm festival, the Pistols are now set to play Canterbury's Farmhouse venue this Friday, supported by Jimmy Screech.

LOTF and Farmhouse promoter Matt Gough said: "Long-term friend of the Lounge crew Barry Ashworth heads up his band of merry men Dub Pistols for a return visit to Canterbury."

"After a lot, and we mean a lot, of arm-twisting and cajoling at LOTF 2009, we are very happy to say that we've convinced them to come down to The Farmhouse for a full-band live show.

"New album Rum & Coke is great, the live shows are better than ever, and judging by audience reaction at LOTF this year they're one of the best-loved bands that we put on."

"This is going to be very, very special."

Doors are open from 9pm to 2am, and entry costs £14.

Jesse takes a dramatic interest in the absurd

■ BY LISA WILLIAMS

JESSE Eisenberg has chosen an unusual career path.

Not interested in following in the footsteps of fellow Disney champions Zac Efron or the Jonas Brothers, the lead in Adventureland says he really wants to become a playwright.

The 25-year-old actor who found fame in Noah Baumbach's indie classic The Squid And The Whale and is now acting alongside Twilight star Kristen Stewart in Disney's latest film, calmly outlines his life plan, when I meet him at a hotel suite in Edinburgh.

"I'm interested in fame in so far as it can help me do what I want to do. I want to be a playwright in New York."

Not what you expect to come out of the mouth of a man currently starring in a twee coming-of-age tale set in 80s America.

"It's hard to be a playwright, it's competitive, and yet if you're in movies – regardless of what the movies are about – people are more apt to produce your stuff, even if it's bad."

Jesse says he has had "some moderate success" as a writer so far, mainly because of the contacts he has made during his acting career, but before he puts his full weight behind it, he has an anthropology degree to finish.

His studies give him something in common with his Adventureland character James, whose heart is set on going to university in New York. When his parents break the news they can't afford to send him to university any more, James resigns himself to a dead-end job at a theme park and an even bleaker future.

Luckily for him, the park is staffed by an array of interesting characters, including stunning and studious Em, played by Kristen.

So what makes it different to any other coming-of-age rom-com? Jesse is keen to tell.

ABSURD: Jesse Eisenberg has a clever sense of humour

"It's unique. Totally," he enthuses. "It takes its characters seriously, the characters take themselves seriously and it's told in an authentic way. It doesn't pander to lowbrow comic sensibilities and it's a sweet story."

One reason for its authenticity could be the fact James' character is based on the film's writer and producer Greg Mottola – something which worked to Jesse's advantage while making the film.

But Jesse's latest part is also a great vehicle for his sense of the absurd, which comes across throughout the interview. When I ask if he gets any fan mail, he replies: "What I do get comes from Austria and it's all men in tight shirts sending me pictures of them in front of a waterfall. I usually send it to the police."

VIEW THIS PREVIEW

yourkenttv.co.uk

Similarly, talking about keeping in touch with his co-star he says: "I'm not allowed to speak to Kristen now because of a restraining order since the Twilight movies. I'm one of the mad fans and have a website about her."

In contrast, he looks pained when I ask if his girlfriend is still working in the charity sector.

"How do you know that?" he exclaims. "How awful! She hates being mentioned."

Immensely private and with a good understanding of the absurdities of life. If Hollywood isn't Jesse's next stop, then a writer's den somewhere round the back of Broadway certainly is.

YOUR TV REVIEW

■ BY TOM BETTS

WATCHDOG
BBC One, 8pm, Thursday
JAMIE'S AMERICAN ROAD TRIP
Channel 4, 9pm, Thursday

THE much-heralded return of newly face-lifted Anne Robinson on the revamped Watchdog had to be worth a look.

Lynn Olds Wood was put out to pasture years ago and most of us thought the show should have been too.

As the presenters rightly told us, internet blog sites put the power in the hands of the consumer when it comes to complaining.

So what's the point of Watchdog?

None at all on this first outing.

A comparison of cheap children's school uniforms concluded that whether it's Tesco, Asda, M&S or Sainsbury, for under a fiver you can't really go wrong.

So what if the polo shirts shrink a bit, just buy the next size up.

And Rogue Trader presenter Matt Allwright – a wannabe Roger Cooke who races to confront the conmen on the back seat of motorcycle – trained his sights on a mildly aggressive salesman of beds which claim to make you look younger.

Since Rogue Trader had 'sorted' him four years ago, but he's still working, it was a pretty lame start.

I found myself mentally applauding the salesman's handling of his car park confrontation with Matt and his TWO camera crews.

Perhaps the Beeb should consider a new show where viewers can complain about over-hyped telly programmes.

I'd report Watchdog.

YOU can't keep Jamie Oliver off the box. Every year he returns with a new show, with results of varying quality.

Following Jamie at Home, he has

NEW LOOK: Anne Robinson back on Watchdog flipped the script completely and documented a cook's road trip across America.

In the last episode he went off to live with the cowboys in Wyoming which ended up with a lot of Dutch oven cooking and the wearing of bad hats.

The finest moment was when he tried out the pitchfork fondues, which is basically sticking a steak thicker than a car tyre it into a vat of ruddy hot fat and eating it as soon as it's been partially incinerated.

This was true heart attack food.

Shows like this only ever work if the star really throws themselves into matters and by eating Rocky Mountain oysters (that's bull's balls to you and I), you cannot accuse him of wimping out. Things did seem to go a bit Brokeback Mountain when he couldn't seem to stop talking about his cowboy mentor Hip with a glimmer in his eye, though.

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21-Feb 19)
YOUR love life has seen better days. Part of the problem is you have distinctly different values than those of your partner. The two of you need to work to find common ground. If you're single, you need to start hanging out places centred around your favourite activities.

TAURUS (Apr 21-May 21)
A LACK of romantic opportunities is making you blue. You're the type who lives for love. Instead of dwelling on your disappointment, find a creative outlet. Usually, you opt for hands on arts and crafts. This time around, you could be inspired to take up a technical form of expression.

LEO (Jul 24-Aug 23)
FINANCIAL setbacks are cutting into your personal life. It's hard to relax and enjoy yourself when you're constantly worried about paying bills. You need to get comfortable with living in reduced circumstances. You can live without luxuries, but not without affection.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22)
AN older friend may not approve of your plans. Trying to win their approval really gets on your nerves because you have very different styles, especially when it comes to romance. You crave intense, all encompassing relationships, they prefer to take things slowly.

A feast for the senses in the Alps

BY RICHARD JONES

MANY British hikers take the easy option and stay near home for walking holidays.

But the alpine landscape of Austria, only a two-hour flight from many UK airports, is a great alternative – and a welcome escape from British traffic jams and windswept beaches.

There's much more to Austria than The Sound of Music and Mozart – and perhaps you can discover more of it in summer and autumn than as a skier in winter.

The standard holiday formula has probably changed little since the 1930s: you walk, relish the fresh air and discover the charms of small family-run hotels, with none of the crowds which cram Europe's cities and coastlines.

We started in the small, picturesque village of Maria Alm one Saturday evening, where the Hotel Niederreiter was hosting polka band Niki and the Oberkrainer on stage, along with Tyrol's answer to Frank Carson – who told family anecdotes and mother-in-law jokes.

As I tucked into my Wiener Schnitzel and a few local Stiegl beers, I was impressed by the warmth of the atmosphere.

I also downed what would be the first of many shots of apricot schnapps on the trip, a tipple that I was told helped the digestive process – not to mention sending you to sleep.

Next morning, our group met Barbara, our local walking guide for the day, before strapping on new day-packs.

Like most Brits, we feared bad weather – Austria is two-thirds mountains, and its weather changes in an instant.

Nevertheless, rain stayed away as we took the Dorf Jet gondola, which carries skiers up the slopes in winter.

From the peak we had a spectacular view of

WALKING VIEWS: A hiking trip is a great way to see Austrian Alps, and it also helps to burn off the calories the valley and Maria Alm, and then we hiked steadily through forests and down to the meadows.

There was so much to see in the woods, with activity boards every 100 metres or so detailing vegetation and wildlife.

Barbara explained the summer programme in the region, when children tackle go-kart racing, pony-trekking, clay-modelling or mini-golf.

Five hours after setting off from Maria Alm we reached our destination, the village of Hinterthal.

Here we had time to enjoy the spa at the Family and Sporthotel Marco Polo before dinner in the hotel's Wintergarten restaurant, when the chef rustled up local delicacy Salzburger Nockerl – a sort of pancake and strawberry-based dessert.

We had to keep walking to work off the calories. By day three, the autumnal rain began to fall as sleet in the valley and snow on the peaks.

Our group agreed there was no such thing as bad weather, only the wrong clothes. We threw on waterproofs for another day's hiking.

Our departure point this time was the sleepy town of Dienten. Our guide Heinz began with a tour of the town, with its resplendent flower house and historic St Nikolaus church.

Heinz, a retired man, set a cracking pace. By lunchtime we had reached a height of 1,550 metres, and stopped off at the Pichlalm mountain hut for a welcome bowl of goulash soup, another local dessert called Kaiserslaute, plus the obligatory shot of schnapps and a mug of tea with rum.

The proprietor kindly added a spot of accom-

Travel details

Richard Jones was a guest of Thomson Lakes & Mountains, which offers 'Walking Without Luggage' tours in the Hochkonig region of Austria from £648 this summer, including 10 or 11 nights' half-board, return flights ex-Gatwick, transfers, luggage transfers between guest houses, walking map and directions and walking pin.

dion music and yodelling, before we headed off through the rocky gorges and clouds in the afternoon.

Our hotel that night, the Hotel Ubergossene Alm (Flooded Alpine Meadow) was something special and served up a five-course dinner.

First thing next morning, I decided to go for a swim; and as I lay in the heated whirlpool, large flakes of snow were falling all around.

For the final excursion, our guide Ernst led us across the ravines near Muhlbach to the snow slopes at the bottom of the Hochkonig.

Lunch was another feast: we witnessed a local woman making her own cheese, as well as sampling farm produce including cider, bacon, fresh bread and berries.

This trip was a gastronomic journey as much as a walking holiday, and a paradise for food and drink lovers keen to try something new.

PROPERTY NEWS

How far would you go to keep your property?

HOMEOWNERS are keen to take extra measures to ensure they keep their homes, but only a few have adequate insurance cover if they lose their job, according to recent research.

Opinium Research carried out an online poll of 2,007 British adults for insurance provider LV, which found that more than half of homeowners – 51 per cent – would take a second job to hold on to their home while more than four in ten – 43 per cent – would withdraw some or all of their life savings to make ends meet.

Almost a third would even be prepared to sell off the family silver.

But only one in ten said they had adequate insurance to pay their mortgage as well as other household bills over the long term, if they were to lose their job.

One in five homeowners would be prepared to take in a lodger to help pay the mortgage and almost as many would rather go cap in hand to friends than give up their property.

Expert advice can help you through 'mortgage maze'

ONE in four first-time buyers have said they would never choose a mortgage without expert guidance, according to a survey by consumer advice website Unbiased.

The same study reported the number of internet searches for "find a mortgage adviser" increased 133 per cent between the beginning of 2009 and the last quarter of 2008. David Elms, chief executive of the company which runs the site, said seeking a professional insight was the way to come out of the "mortgage maze" a winner.

The company also revealed 23 per cent of potential homeowners feel so puzzled by the procedures that they experience a loss of confidence.

Rush to buy as stamp duty holiday nears end

THE stamp duty holiday, which has saved property buyers thousands of pounds in taxes, is to cease at the end of the year.

The break frees buyers of an obligation to pay stamp duty on a purchase under £175,000.

The move re-ignited interest in the flagging housing market during the downturn, and the discount, worth as much as £1,750, can be a big help to some buyers.

L&C Mortgages is encouraging those looking to purchase a home to act now, if possible.

"House purchases can take months to complete, so it is make-your-mind-up time if you are considering buying a property," said L&C's head of communications, David Hollingworth.

He continued: "With house prices now holding up more strongly and in some cases rising, the stamp duty holiday will act as a greater incentive as the deadline approaches."

There has been speculation that the Government will extend the deal to further boost the mortgage market.

In recent months, there have been an increased number of mortgage agreements for first-time buyers and prices have seen a slight upturn.

"It would be nice to leave it at the current level. It would benefit the market," said Peter O'Donovan, head of mortgages at BestInvest.

"If they do change it, hopefully they will tier it properly so everyone ends up paying an equal value," he added.

Currently, stamp duty is divided into tiers from under £175,000, between £175,000 and £250,000, between £250,000 and £500,000, and above £500,000. The rates are zero, one, three and four per cent respectively.

Members of the property and mortgage industries have long called on the Government for a fairer system of stamp duty, where fixed thresholds are replaced with a more fluid set of charges, thus preventing artificial price levels at each stamp duty threshold.

Any changes – or an extension to the stamp duty holiday – would come in the Chancellor's pre-budget report expected this autumn.

When you think of your estate agent which four letter word comes to mind?

House not selling? It might be time for a change. Talk to an agent with a proven track record. An agent who gets the job done rather than talk about how difficult it is. An agent who knows there is only one word you want to hear. Talk to YOUR MOVE.

It is YOUR MOVE's policy to respect any sole agency agreement currently in place. We will not market your property until this has expired or has been terminated. If you do not terminate any previous agreements you could be liable for more than one set of fees.

MOTORS NEWS

Minor miracle as dealer saves scrapped Morris

FEARS have been realised that some classic cars could end up in the crusher as a result of the Government-sponsored Scrappage scheme.

But at least this pristine 36,000-mile 1958 Morris Minor escaped the squeeze after its owner traded it for a £6,000 discount on a Hyundai Coupé at Gatwick Hyundai. The dealer realised the Minor was too young to die, but cannot now legally be driven on the road, so they have offered it free to any organisation with a worthy 'proposal'.

Qubo liberated by add-ons and extra traction

FIAT is just one of three brands who offer an identical new small van-based MPV, but the Italian marque has come up with a point of difference for its Qubo version. It's the Qubo Trekking costing £12,650 which, as the name implies, is a ruffy tufty spin-off with rugged add-ons and mud and snow tyres.

But it's not all cosmetics; there is also a Traction+ electronic differential lock for the front driving wheels to improve handling and control in mud, snow and other low-grip conditions.

Peugeot's auto that now thinks it's manual

TWIN clutches are revolutionising the way we think about automatics.

They cost more, but can deliver the in-town convenience of a standard auto, with manual economy, emissions and driving pleasure on the open road.

Peugeot has now added a six-speed dual-clutch or 'DCS' option to its classy 4007 5-7-seat 4x4/SUV as part of the new 156bhp 2.2-litre HDi FAP diesel powertrain, which can average nearly 40mpg. The new DCS model is part of a revamped 4007 line-up that starts from £23,345.

LOOKING GOOD: The newest version of Nissan's Qashqai +2 n-tec now has a third row of seats and has been rebuilt from windscreen pillar to tailgate, making the car longer

'Nice Nissan' shows that it's really very interesting

SNOOKER star Steve Davies was dubbed 'Interesting' by 80s TV show Spitting Image at a time when snooker dominated TV ratings.

The barb was drawn by Davis's metronomic success when many fans preferred the flamboyance of players like Alex 'Hurricane' Higgins.

Had Spitting Image endured though – and what fun it would have today, Gordon Brown and Alistair Darling – 'Nice Nissan' could have been a target.

Known for reliable and, well, ordinary cars – it was the Davis, not the Higgins of 'carbiz'.

Until the Qashqai arrived in 2007, that is, hustled in by a name like an explosive sneeze and blowing Nice Nissan way into the past.

I've been driving the newest version, a Qashqai +2 n-tec. Translated from Qashqai-speak – for the name comes from a nomadic Iranian people – that means two extra seats in the back and lots of extra media 'tech'.

To accommodate the third row of seats the original five-seater has been rebuilt from windscreen pillar to tailgate, making the car longer and taller without affecting the Qashqai's bullish grace, enhanced by a smarter grille on the +2.

But the quasi-4x4 or 'crossover' styling is only part of the reason why the Qashqai is Nissan's most successful European launch ever and why – until the recession – we seemed to get weekly bulletins on increased production at the company's Sunderland UK plant.

The car's width of appeal is another factor; it was designed to sweep away three existing 'nice' models – the Almera family hatch and its Tino MPV spin-off, plus the Primera family model.

With the +2 it now also attacks Vauxhall's sector leading Zafira seven-seat mid-MPV and mounts a convincing argument, with far more visual impact and a huge load compartment with all rear seats fully folded.

And then there is the car's handling; for a high-riding vehicle, the Qashqai is outstanding and even this stretched version is lively even though the 100bhp 1.5-litre diesel – the best choice for the five-seater – is a bit stretched here.

Qashqai +2 prices start at a tempting £15,600. Upmarket n-tec spec brings and impressive in-car comms package of sat nav, full mobile phone connectivity and the 'Nissan Connect' sound system with USB/iPod link. The 1.5dCi version tested here is £20,200.

AUDI A4 AVANT

AUDI aims to make estates so stylish they must be called Avant rather than 'estate' and the A4 version has come to epitomise the lifestyle sector of that market. Which means badge, style, image, quality and a rewarding drive, plus superb engines including state of the art diesels and the option of Audi's legendary quattro all-wheel drive. Even in the current recession those four rings on the grille don't come cheap, but strong demand says they are worth it.

VOLVO V50

VOLVO'S compact V50 is hardly from the same mould as the Swedish brand's capacious old-time Volvo estates, but it cuts a nice dash. Ultimate load-carrying of the most recent version, when the rear seats are folded, is also good enough to make larger rivals look frivolous. But this is still a lifestyle estate selling on style, image and quality rather than 'luggability', with a neat yet practical cabin that echoes Scandinavian interior design.

JAGUAR X-TYPE ESTATE

JAGUAR struck gold with this stylish version of its 'baby' model line-up. The estate is elegant yet more of a genuine load carrier than many rivals. And the Jaguar badge and 'English' interior take it closest to the lifestyle or country set image aspired to by buyers of this class of car. The 2.0 and 2.2-litre diesels are the preferred choice, but the silky V6 petrol versions are the more affordable and rewarding to drive, while quality overall is excellent.

KOS Media is a highly successful newspaper publisher within Kent, that has received many awards from the newspaper industry.

We now have a vacancy on our county sports desk for a

Trainee Sports Reporter

A rare opportunity has become available to work on the county sports desk.

The successful applicant will help provide content for KOS Media's Yourlocal series and our weekend titles, Kent on Saturday and Kent on Sunday, as well as our websites.

We are offering an ambitious and enthusiastic journalist a chance to be at the heart of a thriving sports scene in Kent – and report on it.

We are looking for someone who doesn't accept second best, is prepared to go that extra yard and is brimming with ideas. Just being a sports fan isn't enough.

NCTJ preliminary qualifications, including shorthand is a prerequisite.

To apply, send a CV and covering letter to:

DREAMLAND, MARGATE

The Dreamland Trust has secured funding to commence work on the development of detailed proposals for a unique eight-acre tourist attraction. Phase One of the project, worth £12.4m, will create the world's first amusement park to solely feature thrilling historic rides and will be centred on the Grade II-listed Scenic Railway roller coaster. The second phase will involve the restoration of the Grade II*-listed Dreamland Cinema building as a multi-purpose entertainment venue, creating a national centre for seaside heritage, popular culture and street style.

We are now recruiting a core team to make this exciting concept a reality.

PROJECT DIRECTOR

£31,250pa P/T (£62.5K FTE)

The Project Director will be the public face of Dreamland Margate, overseeing a small team, including a Project Manager. The successful candidate will need to be enthusiastic about popular culture and seaside heritage. They will have to show evidence of successfully delivering complex capital projects, fundraising, managing partnerships and have the presence, flair and people skills to maintain progress towards meeting tight deadlines. They will have high-level communication and presentational skills and will know how to allocate their time and delegate intelligently.

Closing date: 2 October 2009.

AUDIENCE DEVELOPMENT OFFICER

£28,000pa

The Audience Development Officer is a curator, organiser and the public liaison point for the project, organising exhibitions that act as the basis for audience development. The successful candidate will have an appropriate degree, experience of curatorial duties and managing and creating publicity. The post-holder must possess a knowledge of, and passion for, seaside culture and post-War popular music and fashion.

Closing date: 19 October 2009.

PROJECT ARCHIVIST

£22,000pa (1 Year Fixed-Term Contract)

This is an exciting opportunity for an enthusiastic archivist to research, collate and disseminate historical information relating to the Dreamland site and seaside culture, specifically in Margate, as part of the development of the Dreamland project. Please note this post will require some travel.

Closing date: 19 October 2009.

EXCELLENT: Sibton Park (batting) won two titles

CRICKET

Double success for Sibton Park sides

SIBTON Park are still celebrating after a superb cricket season which saw their top two sides win promotion.

The first-team bounced straight back from relegation last year to win Division Two at a canter, while the seconds recovered from a poor start to also finish top of their table.

Delighted club chairman Mike Leadbetter said: "There's probably even more satisfaction seeing the seconds turn their season around and win their championship. To win two league titles doesn't happen very often and it might be an awfully long time before it happens again."

Elsewhere, there was relief for Sandwich Town, who won their final game of the season against Whitstable to stay up in Division One by a single point.

Hythe and Folkestone both had decent seasons further up the table. Neither had quite the consistency to mount a serious challenge to Lordswood and The Mote, but there were plenty of positives to take away from their finishes in the top four.

Walmer narrowly avoided relegation in Division Four, where they will play Betteshanger Colliery Welfare next season, who finished runners-up in Division Five.

Deal Victoria will join the Kent Cricket League next season after topping a keenly contested Feeder League East 1A.

Hessenthaler urges Dover to make Crabble a fortress

FOOTBALL

■ BY TOM HOWARD

Dover Athletic 4

Collin 4, Browning 45, Southall 58, Pugh 70

Hampton & Richmond Borough 2

Matthews 12, Jeffery 50

DOVER boss Andy Hessenthaler believes home form could be the key to his side's chances of a third successive promotion after the Whites made it five wins out of five at Crabble on Saturday.

Second half strikes from Nicky Southall and new loan signing Andy Pugh saw Dover Athletic see off a spirited Hampton & Richmond to go two points clear at the top of the table.

While admitting he was unhappy with the goals his side conceded, Hessenthaler preferred to emphasise the positive aspects of his side's performance.

He told Yourdover: "It's hard to be too critical of the players as it is five wins on the bounce at home. We have made Crabble a fortress for the last two years and if we can do that again we are going to be up at the sharp end of this league."

"I think we deserved to win, we were the better side. I am disappointed by the way we defended for the goals we conceded - it was schoolboy defending. You can't do that at this level and get away with it."

The game started in explosive fashion with Dover taking the lead after just four minutes. The Whites were awarded a free-kick on the edge of the area and Frannie Collin fired the ball into the bottom corner of the net. Sammy Moore had a header cleared off the line before Hampton levelled through Barrie Matthews.

Southall hit the crossbar but the home fans had to wait until the stroke of half-time for the second goal. A Jon Wallis cross eluded the Richmond defence and found Lee Browning in the area, who buried the ball into the net.

The visitors got back on level terms shortly after the break as they threatened to become the first team to take points away from Crabble this season. Their optimism lasted just eight minutes, when Southall superbly converted a free-kick.

Dover Athletic starting XI

Subs used: Hughes (Collin 62), Gore (Hill 80)

Andy Pugh, who signed on loan from Gillingham last week, wrapped up the victory when he tapped in following good work by substitute Jerahl Hughes.

The only concern for Dover were injuries to Frannie Collin and Dean Hill, adding to Hessenthaler's lengthening injury list.

He said: "Our resources are being tested and financially we cannot go out there and buy players. We may have to release players, but it is hard to do so at the moment as everyone is playing well. People have mentioned Craig Rocastle - we are looking at him - but we will have to wait and see."

Dover are at home to Bath City this Saturday.

Inspiring stories behind student's sporting feats

SPORT AWARDS

BY YOURDOVER REPORTER

WHEN Jessica Day suffered a head injury in a skiing accident last year it left her with memory loss – and that included how to swim and play netball.

Before the accident Jessica was training to swim the Channel and was a very good netball player. But, still suffering from retrograde amnesia, the 17-year-old from Kingsdown is now having to learn the basics of swimming all over again.

The Dover Girls' Grammar School pupil's determination was recognised when she won the Achievement in the Face of Adversity award in the Dover District School Sport Partnership third annual awards evening at Pfizer Social Club.

Jessica said afterwards: "I still can't remember a lot of things but my memory is slowly coming back."

Jessica received her trophy from the guest of honour, Premiership football referee Steve Bennett, who urged the youngsters in the audience "to chase your sporting dream."

A Sir Roger Manwood School pupil doing just that is 18-year-old junior international rower Hannah Moon, who has been awarded a four-year rowing scholarship by the University of Texas. Hannah, from Deal, won the Girls' Individual Excellence trophy while the Boys' Individual Excellence nomination went to 15-year-old Josh Maughan, also from Deal, who has played five times for the Wales Under-16 football team.

INSPIRATION: Jessica Day won the Achievement in the Face of Adversity award at annual awards last week

Josh was a member of the Boys' Grammar School Year 9 football team who won the Boys'

Team of the Year award for after winning back-to-back Kent Cups.

The Girls' Team trophy went to the Dover Girls' Grammar junior athletics squad who won the South East Kent championship while another pupil from the same school, 15-year-old Florence Papoungnot from Walmer, collected the 'Commitment to Sport' award.

The 'Excellence in Leadership' winner was Lucy Arman from Archers Court, a sports house captain at her college who also runs activities at primary schools.

In the Primary School section, the individual nominations were dominated by Langdon Primary School.

Sophie Waller, from Guston, won the Individual Excellent award. Despite only swimming competitively for just over a year the Dover Lifeguard Club member is already the number one-ranked 11-year-old in the country for the girls' 200m freestyle.

The Young Sports Leader of the Year award went to 12-year-old Megan Rawlings, from Martin Mill, who is helping other young people to learn to ride at a stables in the village.

And another Langdon pupil, 11-year-old Rebecca Cock from St Margaret's-at-Cliffe, won the Commitment to Sport category. In her nomination, Rebecca was described 'a great role model for other pupils.'

In the Primary School team awards, the dance festival team from Shatterlocks Infants School in Dover claimed the Key Stage 1 title, while the Key Stage 2 award went to the sportshall athletics team from St Martins PS in Dover.

CATCH OF THE DAY

'It's fill your boots time this Autumn'

By TONY HILLS, a keen beach and boat angler with 50 years' experience fishing Dungeness and District and vice-chairman of the Dungeness Angling Association

WHAT a difference a week makes, after a force nine blow from the south west we have had codling up to 8lb, so welcome to autumn. The first part of the week is north easterly – not the best of directions but the fish keep coming. If we get a south westerly on the big tides at the end of this week, it could be a case of 'fill your boots', and it's only September.

PIRATE SPRINGS AND LITTLESTONE: With a north easterly there should be a good wave action, best on night high tides.

BACK OF THE BOATS: Codling, dabs and whiting but in a north easterly it is only for the hardy.

DUNGENESS: I have had a lot of reports of codling but whiting will be the mainstay with dabs. With the growing tides the best option may be fishing through low water.

DENGEMARSH & GALLOWAYS: In these conditions where we have the wind behind and building tides, it should produce great fishing. We are still hoping for sole but we should have bass and codling as well as the ubiquitous whiting.

JURYS GAP: Big tides later in the week should produce a few bass in the surf.

BOAT FISHING: Still very scratchy, although there should be a few black bream and codling. It's worth a try out by the SC3 buoy for big tope using mackerel bait. The weather has not been kind recently but when the wind goes back to the south west it should be codling time.

Hythe cook up late winner to earn FA Cup riches

FOOTBALL

Hythe Town 2 Faversham Town 1

DAVE Cook scored a late winner to keep Hythe Town's superb start to the season on track as they beat Faversham to book their place in the next round of the FA Cup.

The midfielder netted his fourth goal of the season eight minutes from time to edge Hythe past Kent League rivals Faversham at Reachfields. Pat Kingwell had given Scott Porter's side the lead on 11 minutes, an advantage they kept until Tom Hickman's 73rd minute equaliser.

Victory maintained Hythe's unbeaten start to the season and sent them into second round qualifying, three victories from the first round proper.

Few teams needed the £3,000 prize money more than cash-strapped Folkestone Invicta, but they were denied a much-needed cup run by Sittingbourne. The Seasiders have climbed to the top of the Ryman South on the back of a defence which has conceded one league goal all season, but a lapse allowed the Brickies to edge a tight game 1-0.

The decisive moment came just before the hour mark, when Nick Reeves jumped unmarked to head home a free-kick. Invicta rallied with their best spell of the game late on, but both Darren Smith and Micheal Everitt failed to test the goalkeeper.

Deal Town needed a goal from Scott Holden to come from behind to draw 1-1 with Selsey and force a replay last night. Log on to www.yourdeal.co.uk for the report.
